Organizational Chart and Processes

Nature and Extent of involvement of Faculty and Students in Academic Affairs/Improvements

Director, Head of Department and Faculty Members are continuously involved in evolving new strategies to improve the teaching learning process in order to groom students with ability to apply what they learn, believe in life-long learning and commit themselves to work in the best interest of society.

HOD and senior faculty members are responsible for:

- Ensuring overall discipline.
- Maintaining a conducive learning environment.
- Delegate powers to subordinates.
- Nurture the young faculty.
- Build a well-knit team.
- Develop industry contacts.

The institute has various cells/clubs which conduct & organize events and activities that are managed by the students. These cells/clubs lay the perfect platform for healthy interaction between student & faculty members that results in ideas emanating towards the improvement of the Institute

Mechanism/ Norms and Procedure for Democratic/ Good Governance

The management understands the need of decentralized structure for the institute's growth and grants sufficient autonomy to various levels of management. Directors and Heads are appointed and granted authority in order to ensure effective governance.

The following tasks and responsibilities of administrators/decision makers for various assigned positions clearly demonstrate the delegation of power, providing operational autonomy, and leading to a decentralised governance structure.

- Director AGOI: To implement and monitor the education system to cater to the institute’s vision and mission.
- Director AIM: Responsible for academic development of the institute and monitors progress of various teaching/learning processes
- Head of the Department: Responsible for the academic and administrative functions of the department
- Program Coordinator: Responsible for the smooth conduct of program

Apart from the above positions, registrar, accounts, library etc take care of various support functions with sufficient amount of autonomy.

Student Feedback on Institutional Governance/ Faculty performance

Student feedback is collected regularly using an Institute’s ERP system. This feedback is gathered twice within a semester to ensure that there are multiple opportunities for students to provide their input on various aspects of their academic experience.

Utilizing an ERP system for collecting feedback can streamline the process, making it more efficient and organized. This approach also allows for easy analysis and tracking of feedback data over time, which can help identify trends and areas for improvement.

Grievance Redressal Mechanism for Faculty, Staff and Students

Allenhouse Institute of Management has established a Grievance Redressal Committee, led by the Director, to address concerns from students and staff. Complaints can be submitted orally, via email, through ERP, or in writing. Oral complaints will be documented by the receiving GRC member and authenticated by the complainant.

Upon receiving a complaint, the Committee Chairperson will promptly acknowledge its receipt. Depending on the nature and severity of the issue, the Chairperson may pursue one of two options:

Option 1: For routine matters, the Chairperson may directly engage with the relevant department. The complainant will be kept informed of progress or actions taken.

Option 2: For serious concerns, the Chairperson, in consultation with the GRC, may convene a meeting. Depositions may be sought from both the complainant and the department in question. The GRC will communicate its decision to the complainant within 15 days of receiving the complaint.

Decisions will be communicated to relevant parties/departments via email.
